Thoughts from Bill:

Characteristics of Christians (3)

Matthew 9:35-38; Luke 15:11-20

This week we continue our study of the characteristics that God desires all Christians to have. Remember that these traits or characteristics should be found in all Christians that truly have been with Jesus (Acts 4:13).

Christians that truly have been with Jesus will be compassionate. The word compassion as used in the Bible conveys the idea of suffering or feeling the like with another and being sympathetic. The Psalmist refers to the compassion of God and speaks of the compassion of God (Psa. 78:38; 111:4; 145:8). The story of the prodigal son speaks of the compassion of his father, which represents our Heavenly Father (Lk. 15:20). The Gospels speak of Christ having compassion on the multitudes (Matt. 9:35-38) who came to be healed and on another occasion on those who came to hear

Him teach and stayed many days without eating (Matt. 15:32). If God and Christ had compassion, shouldn't those who follow them also have compassion? This is what Peter wrote in 1 Peter 3:8: "Finally, all of you be of one mind, having compassion for one another; love as brothers, be tenderhearted, be courteous . . ." Do we weep with those who weep (Rom. 12:15)?

Christians should also have the characteristic of contentment. The word contentment in the New Testament can mean to be self-sufficient or to be able to manage with whatever one has. This is seen in Paul's life in Philippians 4:11 where Paul said: "Not that I speak in regard to need, for I have learned in whatever state I am, to be content . . . ." Paul was content whether he was needy or had plenty because he learned to survive on what he had. Consider also 1 Timothy 6:8 and Hebrews 13:5 that speak of contentment.

Christians should also possess the characteristic of uprightness. Solomon said that God had shown great mercy to David because he had walked before God in truth and in righteousness and uprightness of heart (1 Kings 3:6). Walking upright in heart implies walking honestly before God. Perhaps this is why David was said to be upright of heart because he was willing to confess his sin to God (Psa. 51:3-4). The Psalmist writes that the one who walks uprightly and works righteousness does not backbite with his tongue or do evil to his neighbor (Psa. 15:2-3).

Finally, another characteristic of Christians is being zealous for God. The word zealous describes one who has enthusiasm about a particular thing or matter and one that believes strongly about and professes loyalty to a particular belief or organization. One of the apostles was known as Simon the Zealot (Matt. 10:4) because he belonged to a sect that sought to drive out the Romans. Sometimes one can be zealous for the wrong thing, as Paul was for the Jewish law and the traditions of his fathers (Gal. 1:14). Christians, however, should be zealous for good works as God's own special people (Titus 2:14).
